

Julie Anne Jones, Inc. Coaching and Training

Julie Anne Jones started her coaching and training company in 2006 as a place where direct sales professionals could have all of their training and coaching needs met. We carry an extensive array of direct sales training CDs, DVDs and tele-seminars, as well as practical tools to support your success at your parties.

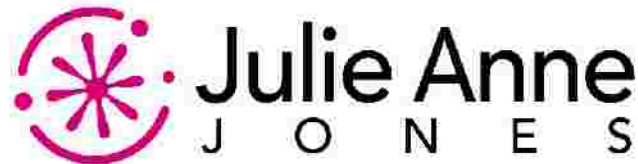

Our staff of six coaches, all certified through the International Coaching Federation and all with extensive direct sales experience, is committed to supporting you in the growth and success you've always known was possible in your direct sales business.

Whether you're looking for a speaker for your next regional or national live event, small-group tele-training or coaching for you or your team, or one-on-one coaching, our services can be tailored to fit your specific needs.

About Julie Anne Jones

Julie believes that people learn the most effectively when they're having fun! She prides herself on her ability to incorporate solid training concepts around personal development, coaching skills, direct sales leadership, party presentation and host coaching into a very unique style.

With her degree in theatre, her passion for performing shines through when she's training. At any given moment she may use gentle sarcasm to make a point or burst into song to get her audience's attention!

Julie has a solid direct sales background, having worked a party plan business for several years, consistently holding three shows per week and winning national awards yearly. She also built a national team working within a multi-level marketing structure and using internet networking.

Julie lives in Walla Walla, WA with her two sons Sam and Eli.

Live Training/Audio CD Topics

"Designing an Amazing Party Experience"

Focus on the "fun" at your parties and create phenomenal results in all areas of your business! By far our most popular training, This course lays out clear, duplicatable tools for designing a party that's easy, fun, and interactive and will bring you the booking, recruiting and sales results you want from your party experience.

"Coaching Your Host for Maximum Success"

Sales follow recruiting— and recruiting, at its essence, is about building relationships.

This course is designed to teach you a systematic approach to the entire host coaching process, from the moment the new host says "yes" through the follow-up process and through the 20 minute host coaching appointment itself. Increase your attendance and results from your parties and begin recruiting 1 out of every 5 hosts you coach!

"Enlightened Leadership; Learning to Live by Design"

The course offers a clear plan for mentoring those on your team who are willing to work with you using the most common and easy to use coaching skills.

"Strong Start; Developing A Training Program For New Consultants" (CD #3 on our Enlightened Leadership CD)

Strong leaders start their new consultants off with a Strong Start! Learn to take your new consultants by the hand and lead them to success from the moment they say yes!
